

Applied Environmental Economics Conference 19 March 2021, on-line

Submit your work to feature in envecon 2021!

Submission deadline is Monday 21st December 2020 to uknee@uknee.org.uk

Now in its 19th year, envecon is the UK's only environmental economics conference that showcases the latest research and brings together delegates from academia, private & public sectors.

The agenda for envecon is shaped by selected papers and posters. Previous themes include green infrastructure, natural capital accounting, climate change mitigation & adaptation, water management & environment policy in a post-Brexit world. The table below presents the kind of topics the conference is open to – but any topic with focus on application of environmental economics in practice is welcome.

#envecon2021 will be held as a virtual event. We feel certain that we can deliver an engaging and successful on-line conference and look forward to receiving your submissions. Further detail on the format will be shared shortly. We will ensure that presentations and posters are available in good time so that, when we come together on the day, we can focus on discussion and on learning from each other.

TOOLS OF ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS	ECONOMIC SECTORS / ENVIRONMENTAL TOPICS	HORIZONTAL THEMES
A. Economic valuation B. Economic appraisal C. Economic instruments	D. Energy E. Water & wastewater management F. Waste management G. Transport H. Agriculture & forestry I. Marine environment J. Green Infrastructure & urban life	K. Natural Capital L. Climate change mitigation & adaptation M. Green finance N. Behavioural economics O. COVID-19 & Environment

Sign up to the mailing list: www.uknee.org.uk and follow us on @_UKNEE

- All papers should display academic rigour and show evidence of practical application. We are interested in showcasing papers that have policy relevance and have been used in decision-making by the public and/or private sectors. Papers do not have to be unique applications of new theory; evidence-based policy benefits from repeated applications.
- Abstracts must not exceed 2 sides of A4, in 12-point font, double spaced. They should convey information on the economic theory tested; context of the practical application (actual &/or potential); results & policy implications.
- Please ensure that your abstract indicates which theme(s) your paper falls into & the author for correspondence.

Important Dates:

- Monday 21st December 2020: Deadline for submission of abstracts
- Monday 22nd January 2021: Notification of acceptance
- Friday 19th March 2020: envecon day